empower your employees

Nearly one in three American households spend 30% or more of their total income on housing. Many of these housing cost-burdened people are blue collar workers who rent homes with their families. Employees who are housing cost-burdened report more stress, have more missed days of work, and are less productive overall.

Habitat for Humanity offers a hand-up to families in need of affordable housing. Cedar Valley Habitat homeowners are working at local companies like Whirlpool, Nordstrom, and Tyson. Do your employees need access to affordable housing, too?

affordable homeownership leads to:

- better health
- greater economic stability
- reduced environmental footprint
- better access to quality education
- increased civic and social engagement
